

MMA healthy buildings health & safety assessment

The global pandemic has prioritized health and safety measures within buildings for employees and occupants, creating a heightened awareness for businesses. Marsh McLennan Agency (MMA) has developed an assessment program, Healthy Buildings Health & Safety Assessment, that can uncover significant areas for improvement within your property. The assessment pulls elements from Fitwel and International Well Building Institute (IWBI) WELL Health-Safety Rating to provide insight into how your company can improve the health and safety of your buildings.

Healthy buildings health & safety assessment

- Contingency and emergency planning/preparedness
- Strategies to adapt to emerging health and safety-related issues
- Security and site safety planning

Benefits of improving overall building occupant health and well-being

- Market differentiation for real estate
- Increase in tenant satisfaction and retention
- Increased productivity and satisfaction in workspaces
- Increased employee job satisfaction and retention
- Reduction in absenteeism

If your company decides to obtain a Fitwel certification or IWBI WELL Health-Safety Rating for your building or new project, this assessment will help prepare you.

Your future is limitless.™
